Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

1. The amendment filed 8/30/2005 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 40-41 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bober in view of Albright et al. Bober discloses a method for stacking sheets of printing media that includes collecting the sheets on a workpiece (79) sheet by sheet; registering (80, 81) the sheets on the workpiece sheet by sheet; and unloading the stack from the workpiece (see col. 4, lines 30-33). Bober discloses all the limitations of the claims, but it does not disclose punching a hole/cutting a notch in the sheets, sheet by sheet. However, Albright discloses a sheet punching/cutting device that punches/cuts sheets, sheet by sheet, before transferring the sheets to a finisher for the purpose of punching/cutting sheets without interrupting their rapid sequential sheet printing and output, yet allowing improved, more positive, sheet control and a lower punching/cutting force as compared to compiling and hole punching/cutting through an entire set of sheets at once (see col. 2, lines 35-48). It would have been obvious for a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the applicant's invention to modify Bober by punching/cutting the sheets sheet by sheet, as disclosed by Albright, for the purpose of punching/cutting sheets without interrupting their rapid sequential sheet printing and output, yet allowing improved, more positive, sheet control and a lower punching/cutting force as compared to compiling and hole punching/cutting through an entire set of sheets at once.

4. Claims 40-41 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Farrell et al. in view of Albright et al. Farrell discloses a method for stacking sheets of printing media that includes punching a hole/cutting a notch in sheets (see col. 11, line 67); collecting the sheets on a workpiece sheet by sheet (see col. 11, line 20 incorporating U.S. 4,595,187 by reference); registering the sheets on the workpiece sheet by sheet (see col. 11, line 20 incorporating U.S. 4,595,187 by reference); and unloading the stack from the workpiece (see col. 11, lines 15-19). Farrell discloses all the limitations of the claims, but it does not disclose punching a hole/cutting a notch in the sheets, sheet by sheet. Rather, Farrell is silent as to how the punching/cutting occurs. However, Albright discloses a sheet punching/cutting device that punches/cuts sheets, sheet by sheet, before transferring the sheets to a finisher for the purpose of punching/cutting sheets without interrupting their rapid sequential sheet printing and output, yet allowing improved, more positive, sheet control and a lower punching/cutting force as compared to compiling and hole punching/cutting through an entire set of sheets at once (see col. 2, lines 35-48). It would have been obvious for a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the applicant's invention to modify Farrell by punching/cutting the sheets sheet by sheet, as disclosed by Albright, for the purpose of punching/cutting sheets without interrupting their rapid sequential sheet printing and output, yet allowing improved, more positive, sheet control and a lower punching/cutting force as compared to compiling and hole punching/cutting through an entire set of sheets at once.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to the claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
